Mayimba (Welcome) to Darumbal Country

Mayimba (welcome) to Rockhampton, Queensland.

Mayimbagu Darumbal Nunthi – Welcome to Darumbal Country. Darumbal is the name of the Aboriginal people who have lived in, and call this part of Central Queensland yaamba (home), for thousands of years. We come from thousands of generations of strong proud people. A physical, spiritual and emotional relationship, has existed between our country and ourselves from time immemorial. Today, we Darumbal people continue to practice our ancient culture and speak our language, which we now happily share with all others who also call this area Yaamba. Darumbal people are proud that they, and other Indigenous people, have worked hard in all different industries alongside non-Indigenous people, to help make this place what it is today.

Yadaba wiya binbigu yinhami narni gunhami wu mundarragu ngalliranga dabu nguga binbi narragu yirragu muli galagan. Please respect and be good to this country that gives life to us all, enjoy yourselves, and stay safe.

Nhaya Nicky Hatfield, Darumbal Elder

Surfing

SURF LAKES

Surf Lakes was developed as a research and development facility and the first full-scale prototype of the “5 Waves” technology, a process that looks like a huge, upside down steel mushroom repeatedly plunging into the sheet glass waters of a large man-made lake to produce ripples.

These ripples radiate out from their unlikely epicentre on to a series of carefully sculpted surfing “reefs” placed strategically around the lake to produce not just surfable waves, but jaw-dropping, perfect, peeling, spitting barrels that represent the most authentic man-made surfing experience to date.

This facility is currently in development and not yet open to the public.*

Facilities include:

- Ability to host up to 200 surfers at the same time
- Allows over 2,000 rides per hour
- Waves up to 2.4 metres in height
